

Put commas in the correct places to make the meaning of the sentences clear.

1. Julian loves cooking his family and watching television.
2. In the forest there were many strange noises.
3. Max loves his friends reading comics dogs and computer games.
4. My favourite flavours are milk chocolate toffee and strawberry.
5. After the party Pippa went to the shop.
6. Mary doesn't like tomatoes orange sprinkles or bread.
7. Katie likes knitting children and her dog.
8. She needed to take a jacket her lunch and a drink.
9. After a few minutes they left the party.
10. Under the table she found a pen some crumbs a hair pin and a mug.

Put commas in the correct places to make the meaning of the sentences clear.

1. Having a sweet tooth Lucy's favourite foods are chocolate sandwiches and French toast.
2. If you want to have some pudding you'll have to hurry up and eat Chris.
3. I love my brother Harry Potter and playing scrabble in the afternoons.
4. Katy's favourite foods are pizza crisps tomato and cucumber.
5. Shall we eat grandad?
6. If you leave your toys on the floor I will trip over Emily.
7. In her spare time Yasmin enjoys watching television writing stories and fairy-tales.
8. During the summer Daisy decided to become a vegetarian.
9. Before she left she needed to get her pencil case notepad and diary.
10. Well known author Michelle likes cooking giraffes reading and mountain climbing.

Explain how the comma changes the meaning in each pair of sentences.

1. We've been told to draw Dad.
We've been told to draw, Dad.
2. Katie likes knitting children, and her dog.
Katie likes knitting, children and her dog.
3. You need to tidy up, Rachel.
You need to tidy up Rachel.
4. "We don't hit, Luke," snapped the teacher.
"We don't hit Luke," snapped the teacher.
5. Once we have logged on, we will learn to cut and paste kids.
Once we have logged on, we will learn to cut and paste, kids.
6. I love my brother Harry Potter and playing scrabble.
I love my brother, Harry Potter and playing scrabble.
7. Shall we eat grandad?
Shall we eat, grandad?